SWK 6328: SOCIAL WORK WITH GROUPS
Fall 2024

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is designed to increase students' knowledge and skill in the social group work method. This is an elective course that builds upon the knowledge and skills acquired in Generalist Practice course and HBSE. This course focuses on the theory and practice of social group work.

SOCIAL WORK COMPETENCIES (click the link for a list of all nine competencies)

Competency 1- Demonstrate Ethical and Professional Behavior Social workers understand the value base of the profession and its ethical standards, as well as relevant laws and regulations that may impact practice at the micro, mezzo, and macro levels. Social workers understand frameworks of ethical decision-making and how to apply principles of critical thinking to those frameworks in practice, research, and policy arenas. Social workers recognize personal values and the distinction between personal and professional values. They also understand how their personal experiences and affective reactions influence their professional judgment and behavior. Social workers understand the profession's history, its mission, and the roles and responsibilities of the profession. Social Workers also understand the role of other professions when engaged in inter-professional teams.

Competency 2- Advance Human Rights and Social, Economic, and Environmental Justice. Social workers are advocates for human rights, economic and environmental justice in direct practice with individuals, families, groups and communities as well as efforts focused on program development and policy development.

Competency 4- Engage in Practice-informed Research and Research-informed Practice. Social workers understand quantitative and qualitative research methods and their respective roles in advancing a science of social work and in evaluating their practice. Social workers know the principles of logic, scientific inquiry, and culturally informed and ethical approaches to building knowledge. Social workers understand that evidence that informs practice derives from multidisciplinary sources and multiple ways of knowing. They also understand the processes for translating research findings into effective practice.

Competency 5- Engage in policy practice Social workers understand that human rights and social justice, as well as social welfare and services, are mediated by policy and its implementation at the federal, state, and local levels. Social workers understand the history and current structures of social policies and services, the role of policy in service delivery, and the role of practice in policy development

Competency 6 –Engage with Individuals, Families, Groups, Organizations, and Communities Social workers understand that engagement is an ongoing component of the dynamic and interactive process of social work practice with, and on behalf of, diverse individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities.

Competency 7 –Assess Individuals, Families, Groups, Organizations, and Communities Social workers understand that assessment is an ongoing component of the dynamic and interactive process of social work practice with, and on behalf of, diverse individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities. Students will:

Competency 8 – Interventions with Individuals, Families, Groups, and Communities Social workers understand that intervention is an ongoing component of the dynamic and interactive process of social work practice with, and on behalf of, diverse individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities.

Competency 9 – Evaluate Practice with Individuals, Families, Groups, Organizations and Communities Social workers understand that evaluation is an ongoing component of the dynamic and interactive process of social work practice with, and on behalf of, diverse individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities.

I. LEARNING OBJECTIVES

1. Apply group work theory to different settings and populations, e.g., children, adolescents, adults and the elderly.

2. Understand and apply basic concepts of social group work, including recruitment, group formation, facilitation, assessment, group decision-making, problem solving, and termination.

3. Understand the impact of time on group process and to be able to work with different group structures i.e. open ended, single session and short-term groups.

4. Be able to develop a mutual aid process to facilitate members to help one another achieve their individual and collective aspirations and goals.

5. Demonstrate ability to identify and work with resistance to group and individual growth and change.

6. Develop skills in identifying group members' issues, problems, needs, resources, and assets within a framework of group processes, dynamics, and developmental stages.

7. Appreciate ethnic identity, heritage, and cultural identity and to be able to promote intercultural acceptance among group members. Develop tools and techniques for understanding, affirming, and respecting group members from diverse backgrounds

8. Understand the importance of social group work in meeting the normal growth and development needs of individuals particularly in community settings such as neighborhood community centers, schools, and Settlement Houses.

9. Understand the termination stage of group development in terms of: variations with different group types and populations, tasks to be accomplished and the role of the worker.

10. Apply social work values and ethics to group work practice.

II. INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS

Learning will occur through a variety of experiences and methods, such as lectures, class discussions, discussion boards, journal assignments, case scenarios, class exercises, role plays, films, and presentations. This class includes 37.5 contact hours. Students will be in class live online with the professor for 2 hours each week for 14 weeks and will complete an additional 9.5 hours throughout the semester on four interactive written discussion board assignments with the professor and peers.

III.   COURSE EXPECTATIONS AND GRADING

Students are expected to attend all classes and to be on time. Class participation is important and there is an expectation that students will do the required reading specified under each course unit. Grades are largely based on assignments; 45% each for both assignments, and 10% for student discussion of readings, class attendance, and completing assignments on time.

Assignment	Grade %	Due Date
Assignment #1: Forming A Group Within An Agency	% 35	7TH session
Assignment #2: Group Assessment	% 40	13TH session
Completion of assigned readings, participation in class & Canvas assignments	% 25

Rubric for Participation, Attendance and Comportment

Class Participation	Contributes to class discussions by raising thoughtful questions, analyzing relevant issues, building on others' ideas, synthesizing across readings and discussions, expanding the class' perspective, and appropriately challenging assumptions and perspectives 8 points	Attends class regularly and sometimes contributes to the discussion in the aforementioned ways. 6 points	Attends class regularly but rarely contributes to the discussion in the aforementioned ways. 4 points	Attends class regularly but never contributes to the discussion in the aforementioned ways. 2 points
Attendance	Always arrives on time and stays for entire class; regularly attends class; all absences are excused; always takes responsibility for work missed; no deadlines missed. 7 points	Minimal lateness; almost never misses a class; no unexcused absences. No deadlines missed. 5 points	Late to class semi-frequently; misses deadlines. 3 points	Late to class frequently misses deadlines 1 point
Comportment	Demonstrates excellence in communication, interpersonal skill, respect for the ideas of others and the learning environment, engages in reflective thinking, exemplifies empathy, honesty and integrity, shows respect for diversity, demonstrates ethical conduct, and conducts oneself with a professional demeanor. 5 points	Occasionally exhibits excellence in comportment; is almost always respectful towards peers, and the learning environment 4 points	Recurring concerning comportment issues behaves in ways that are not always respectful of peers, and the learning environment 2 points	Consistent comportment concerns; is often disrespectful to peers and the learning environment 0 points

IV.   COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Assignments Assignment I – Due Session 7 - Forming A Group Within An Agency

Prepare a plan for the development of a new client group in your field work agency. Discuss: the needs of the client population proposed for the group, how a group service will meet those needs; group purpose; who the members will be; group size and structure; pre-group contact with prospective members and content for the first meeting.

Discuss your plan with an agency staff member whose support would be required before you could start the group. Include his/her reactions (contact by email, and include the email correspondence).

You are expected to refer to concepts from the readings units III & IV, Chapter V in the text. The first assignment is due: Session 7

Assignment II – Due Session 13 - Group Assessment

The assessment is to be conducted with a group you are in or have worked with or were a member. If the aforementioned do not apply to you, the assessment should be done by interviewing a fellow student who has worked with a group. The purpose of the assignment is to aid you in your present understanding of group and individual functioning and your role with the group as well as to serve as a guide for future action.

You are expected to incorporate concepts from the text and other required readings.

A detailed outline is attached.

IX. PLAGIARISM

All written work submitted by students is to be their own. Ideas and concepts that are the work of others must be cited with proper attribution. The use of the written works of others that is submitted as one's own constitutes plagiarism and is a violation of academic standards. The School will not condone plagiarism in any form and will impose sanctions to acts of plagiarism. A student who presents someone else's work as his or her own work is stealing from the authors or persons who did the original thinking and writing. Plagiarism occurs when a student directly copies another's work without citation; when a student paraphrases major aspects of another's work without citation; and when a student combines the work of different authors into a new statement without reference to those authors. It is also plagiarism to use the ideas and/or work of another student and present them as your own. It is NOT plagiarism to formulate your own presentation of an idea or concept as a reaction to someone else's work; however, the work to which you are reacting should be discussed and appropriately cited. If it is determined that a student has plagiarized any part of any assignment in a course, the student automatically FAIL the course. The student also will be placed on Academic Probation and will be referred to the Associate Dean for any additional disciplinary action which may include expulsion. A student may not submit the same paper or an assignment from another class for credit. If students or faculty are concerned that written work is indeed plagiarized, they can use the following "plagiarism checker" websites, easily accessible, and generally free on Google:
www.grammarly.com/plagiarism_checker www.dustball.com/cs/plagiarism.checker www.plagtracker.com

As a Wurzweiler student, maintaining good standing in the program is dependent on developing and maintaining high standards of ethical and professional behavior. Students are required to adhere to the Code of Ethics promulgated by the National Association of Social Workers (NASW).

IX. INCOMPLETE POLICY

It is expected that all work must be submitted no later than the final day of this class, unless otherwise specified by the instructor. Incomplete grades are only given in exceptional circumstances at the discretion of the instructor. In order for an instructor to issue a grade of "incomplete," the student must be passing this course.

If an incomplete grade is given for this course, an Incomplete Contract will be completed, which will specify a due date for the completion of any outstanding work. It is the student's responsibility to complete all outstanding work before this due date. Students will be unable to enroll in any advanced courses for which this course is a prerequisite.

Failure to complete all outstanding work before the due date will result in a grade change from an "I" to an "F" for this course. Please consult the Student Handbook for the complete incomplete policy which will guide the receipt of an incomplete grade in this course.

X. HIPAA
In line with HIPAA regulations concerning protected health information, it is important that you understand that any case information you present in class or coursework will need to be de-identified. What this means is that any information that would allow another to identify the person must be changed or eliminated. This includes obvious identifiers such as names and birth dates but may also contain other information that is so unique to the person that it will allow for identification, including diagnosis, race/ethnicity or gender. If diagnosis, race/ethnicity or gender is directly related to the case presentation, it can be included if it will not allow for identification.

XI. FERPA & OTHER UNIVERSITY POLICIES
Wurzweiler's policies and procedures are in compliance with FERPA regulations. Information about FERPA regulations can be found here.
Drug-Free University Policy can be found here.
Policy Statement on Non-Discrimination, Anti-Harassment, and Complaint procedures can be found here.

ASSIGNMENT II

Guide for Group Assessment

The following concepts are useful in understanding how the group as a whole is functioning. The questions help to focus the assessment.

Group Purpose

Purpose expresses the common need problem or interest that brings the members together and how the group will be of help. It is a process of clarification that continues throughout group development.

a. Is the group purpose clear to the worker, agency and members?

b. Is there congruence between the worker and members' perception of group purpose?

c. Have the members shared their goals and expectations as part of the shaping of group purpose.

d. Does the group continue to refer to its purpose or has the purpose stated at the beginning, been forgotten?

Social Interaction

Through interaction the members influence each other's attitudes and behavior and accomplish group goals.

a. Is there active participation by group members or is the discussion dominated by certain members?
b. Are the members communicating with one another or does the interaction tend to be between the members and the worker?
c. Do the members share their conscious thoughts and feelings about the group or do they avoid open and honest communication with the worker and one another?
d. Do the members listen to one another or are interruptions prevalent? If interruptions are occurring who interrupts whom?

Relationships

The positive and negative feelings the members have for one another affect the group process and the achievement of individual group goals.

a. Are members regarded favorably by the group or are there individuals who are rejected?
b. What factors influence the attraction and repulsion among member?
c. Do members recognize their interdependence and reach out to help one another?
d. Do members regard one another objectively or do stereotypes exist based on such characteristics as: race, religion, gender, social class and appearance.

Roles

Members perform various informal and formal roles in their interaction with each other. Informal roles express individual needs as well as the expectations of others while formal roles are designated positions related to the purpose and structure of the group.

a. What informal roles are performed by individual members?
b. Are the roles constructive for the individual in the roles and for the group or are there roles that are destructive for the individual and the group?
c. Are any individuals stereotyped in their roles by the group so that it is hard to alter their role behavior?
d. Are there formal or informal roles needed the group to achieve its goals that are not being performed?

Norms

Norms express standards of behavior to which the members of a group expect one another to meet. Norms differ from rules, which are externally imposed on the group by the worker or agency. They develop from social interaction and provide stability and control. Norms may help or hinder the group. The following questions express humanistic values and democratic norms providing the foundation for the practice of social group work.

a. Does the group value the contributions of all of its members regardless of such factors as race, class, status, age, and gender?
b. Is there a norm for inclusion of different kinds of people and opinions rather than for exclusion?
c. Does the group allow expression and experimentation with new ideas and behaviors?
d. Are the interactions of group members based on caring and helping, or do members avoid taking responsibility for one another?
e. Do members take responsibility for the group through collective decision making or is responsibility avoided and decisions made by the worker or a few members?

Conflict

Differences amongst the members are a normal and natural part of the group process and essential for group development and change. The ways in which members recognize and manage conflict is crucial to group functioning and survival.

a. Does the group avoid dealing with conflict or are difference recognized and accepted as beneficial to the group?
b. Does the group allow for a full and open discussion of differences or is there a tendency toward premature resolution of the conflict?
c. Are the ideas and opinions of all group members solicited in the resolution of conflict?
d. Is there sufficient closure to insure that he conflict is satisfactorily resolved by the members?

Group Cohesion

a. Cohesion refers to the attraction the members have for one another, the worker and the group as an entity. The more cohesive the group the greater is its influence on the members. The following attributes are signs of group cohesion.
b. Regularity of attendance and punctuality predominate, especially in groups in which memberships voluntary
c. Members feel that they belong, as evidenced by knowing who are members and differentiating themselves from nonmembers.
d. Members increase their expressions of Awe@ feelings, symbolizing identification of members with each other and with the group entity. Relationships among members become accepting, interdependent, and intimate.
e. Members become highly invested in their participation in the content of the group experience.
f. Members express verbally their satisfaction with being a member of the group and with the way it operates.
g. The social climate is characterized by spontaneity, informality, and appropriate self- disclosure.
